

What are the biggest aggravations
in your role?

“I’m constantly re-doing things that aren’t done right the first time; there’s no need for this...”

“I feel we jump through hoops and spend more time doing unnecessary work than is actually needed (facepalm)”

“Cripes; the basic stuff or information I need is never there when I need it”

“IMO they pay us to shut-up-and-work, they don’t want to know what we really think”

“GMAB, the ridiculous distances I have to go to do (or get) something is freakin’ crazy but my Fitbit likes it”

“OMG, we’re drowning in some things and never have enough of others; to be honest, we have no idea what we have until it expires”

“BTW, whoever puts stuff where I constantly have to hunt, reach, bend and stretch should be shot”

“...we do things way more often than they need to be done, but that’s why they pay me the big bucks.”

*“Ugh, I’m so sick of seeing the same problems every day;
I wish we had a way to get rid of crappy issues once and for all.”*
